My Erasmus Experience at the University of Camerino

Spending my Erasmus semester at the University of Camerino was an incredibly enriching experience, both academically and personally. I had the chance to immerse myself in research work and take an Italian language course, both of which proved to be deeply rewarding. My supervisor was a great guide throughout my research, always available to help and offer insightful advice. The university's facilities were excellent, providing everything I needed for my studies.

Learning Italian was a highlight of my time in Camerino. The language course was taught by a great professor who made every lesson engaging and enjoyable. This class not only improved my language skills but also helped me connect more deeply with the local culture and people. The International Office at the university was incredibly welcoming and supportive, always ready to assist with any issues or questions I had.

One of the most memorable parts of my Erasmus experience was organizing an interdisciplinary seminar for other Erasmus+ students. This event allowed me to bring together students from various academic backgrounds, fostering a collaborative and intellectually stimulating environment. It was a great opportunity to develop my organizational skills and connect with fellow students on a meaningful level.

The Erasmus+ program gave me the chance to meet and befriend people from all over the world. I connected with students who were passionate and dedicated to their work. I now have friends from Argentina, Colombia, Venezuela, Vietnam, France, Spain, Portugal, the UK, Poland, Germany, Brazil, and many other countries. This diverse network of friends enriched my experience and broadened my horizons in ways I hadn't anticipated.

Traveling was another exciting aspect of my Erasmus journey. During breaks, I explored several Italian cities such as Bologna, Rome, Ancona, Civitanova, and Catania. Each city had its own unique charm and history, offering new adventures and insights into Italian culture. Additionally, I had the opportunity to visit Austria, Germany, and Slovenia, which were equally fascinating and beautiful.

Overall, my Erasmus experience at the University of Camerino was truly transformative. It combined academic growth, cultural immersion, and personal development in a way that few other experiences can. The support from the university, the chance to meet people from around the world, and the opportunities to travel and explore new places made this semester one of the most memorable periods of my life. I would wholeheartedly recommend the Erasmus+ program to anyone looking for a life-changing educational experience.
